

Dear Judge,

I have known Vladislav Klyushin since 2017. Unfortunately, not as close as I would have liked. Vlad is an infectious cheerful person! He is always full of positive energy, optimistic, thoughtful and attentive in any given situation. What always surprises and delights, is his ability to think in creative ways, his organizational skills and great education. All this combined with rare business qualities, like honesty, responsibility, focus — not just on results, but also on achieving highest possible marks in everything.

Our company had the pleasure of cooperating with Vladislav on an animated film project about the protection of the Hermitage Museum artefacts during the Second World War. While working on the project Vladislav proved himself as a high-level organizer, actively involved in all steps of the production. He also proved himself as a leader capable of understanding the human side of the equation, any problems personal or creative of all involved. We got to know him as an enthusiastic, creative person, and a wonderful family man. Especially important to us was his personal interest in the preservation of artistic historical heritage, his principal stand against war and anything destructive.
